

Housing Partnership Action Plan in a nutshell

General Presentation

EU Urban Agenda

Working together towards the city of the future

More than 70% of Europeans live in cities. And those cities continue to grow. This has many positive implications. But cities also have problems and challenges of their own.

The EU Urban Agenda helps by providing a platform where cities, member states and the European Commission can work together. The Pact of Amsterdam marks its launch.

 -ASSESSING COMMON ISSUES

• ACCESS TO AFFORDABLE HOUSING BY VULNERABLE PEOPLE
 • IMPROVING QUALITY / ADDRESSING CS AND SECURITY OF TENURE

REMOVING BARRIERS TO THE HOUSING MARKET IN AS MANY URBAN AREAS FOR AS MANY PEOPLE AS POSSIBLE

SMART USE OF EU LEGISLATION + ROOM FOR INNOVATION

Represent interests of partners / with regard to delivering affordable housing in distinctive Urban Agenda

Involvement of private investors in order to have affordable housing

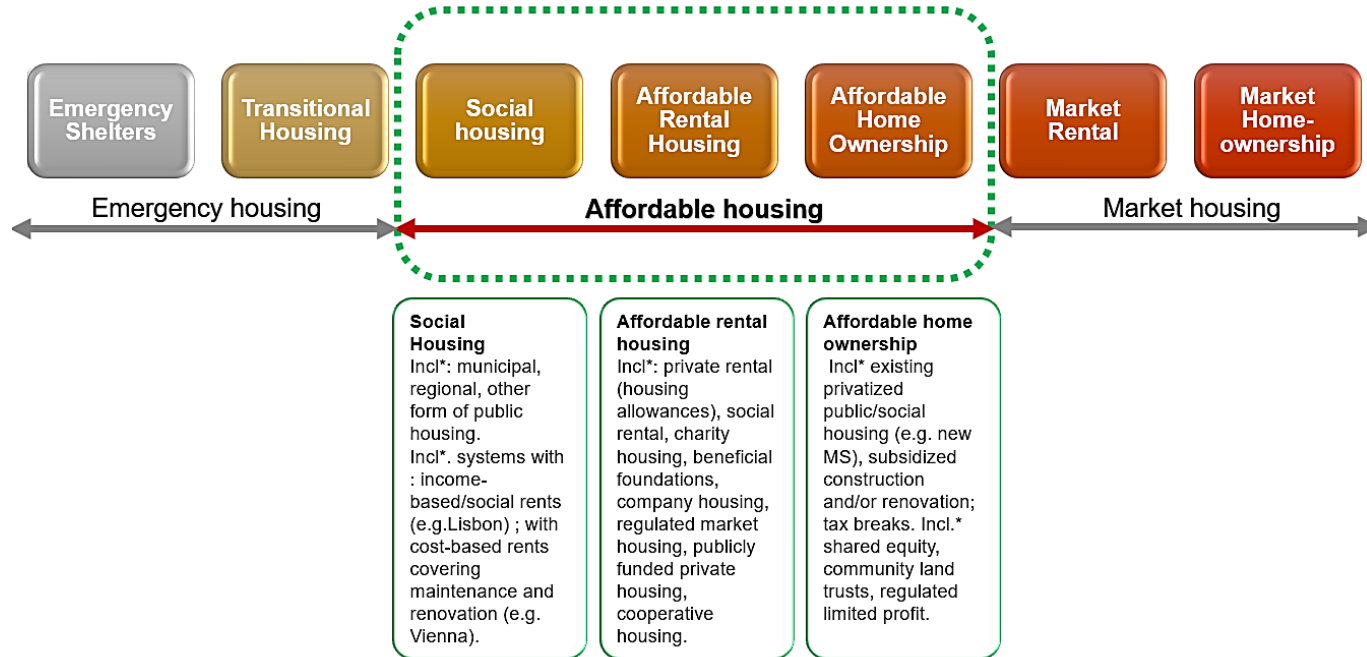

An effective structure and procedure to support EU regulation, financing and knowledge based on the need for affordable, sustainable housing in European cities.

Better represent knowledge and know-how about delivering affordable housing at the EU level (up to policy-making)

How to create affordable and accessible housing - local reality

• Partnerships are the way to govern EU urban agenda
 ↳ EUUA to enable cities to have their say in design and implementation of policies
 • The Housing Partnership should make this happen in concrete manner and introduce a few concrete issues in the field of housing which are a bottleneck or need improvement.

IUT POSITION PAPER

Delivered to the EU Urban Agenda Partnership for Affordable Housing
Lisbon 22. March 2018

The International Union of Tenants

The International Union of Tenants (IUT) was founded in 1926 and is a non-governmental and not-for-profit umbrella membership organisation with the purpose of safeguarding tenants' interests and promoting affordable and decent rental housing across the world. Its members consists of 69 national tenants associations in 46 countries. IUT offices are located in Brussels, Brussels. IUT considers housing as one of the fundamental rights, which is addressed locally, nationally and internationally. Adequate housing is a safeguard for peace and security.

How to define, achieve and measure affordability in rental housing

Housing is a fundamental right as citizens cannot enjoy other rights without it. However, a “roof over people’s head” is not enough to promote social inclusion: housing assistance should be integrated with proximity to other public services at local level e.g. transport, health care, education, jobs and training opportunities. A household’s expenditure on housing is usually the one which takes the largest share of its budget. Lowering housing costs then means greater opportunities for households to spend more money on other goods and services, which contributes to the creation of new jobs. Affordable housing is a service of general interest and an important pillar for a social, sustainable and inclusive society.

One definition of affordability is: “Housing is affordable when housing of an acceptable minimum standard can be obtained and retained leaving sufficient income to meet essential non-housing expenditure.”¹ This definition is called the residual income concept.

Good Policy and Practice
